

As a business traveler who flies weekly and carries a cell phone, I am completely against allowing cell phone use on airlines. There is no business so important that can't wait the 1 to 4 hours a person would be on a plane in the United States. Most travelers use the time on a plane to relax and grab a nap. The last thing I want is the guy in the seat next to me screaming into his cell phone, conducting "important" business. NO CELL PHONES ON AIRPLANES!
